

MUSIC UNDECLARED

This option provides the opportunity for incoming students to begin study in the School of Music while deciding on a specific degree program. Generally, undeclared students follow the standard first-year music curriculum for the individual's specific instrument, but are encouraged to do preliminary music education course work if interested. Students must decide on a degree program by the third semester of study. It is not possible to graduate as an undeclared music major.